Large Chinese Army Forces Japanese Troops Back Near Fengtai Base

Gen. Sung Cheh-Yuan's Chinese Regulars Repulse Heavily Supported Detachment in Hand-to-Hand Fighting.

JAPAN DECIDES

Japanese Cabinet Agrees Military Measures Necessary to Solve North China Crisis.

Peiping, China, July 13 (AP)—Five Japanese bombers, Chinese sources reported today, bombed the Nanyuan barracks and airdrome eight miles south of this ancient city. The report was not at once confirmed.

The aerial attack, according to the Chinese informants, occurred between three and four p. m. (2 and 3 a. m., E. S. T.).

The report first became known here late in the day, delayed because telephone communications with Nanyuan were cut during today's fighting.

Peiping, July 13 (AP)—Gen. Sung Cheh-Yuan's 29th Chinese route army today forced a heavily supported detachment of Japanese troops to retreat toward their Fengtai base after they had been driven back on Peiping's southern wall in two hours of hand-to-hand fighting.

The big swords of the Chinese infantry clashed in the sultry noon sunshine with the bayonets of the Japanese at the strategic railway bridge a half mile south of the walls.

The Japanese formed one of the advance units of a reported 10,000 troops being rushed to the north China battle area from Manchoukuo, the state Japan carved out of Chinese Manchuria.

Reliable foreign sources declared 100 Japanese warplanes flew over Shanhaikwan, on the border of Manchoukuo and Hopeh Province, en route yesterday to the scene of action.

The Japanese detachment was advancing on the Nanyuan Airdrome and barracks, eight miles south of Peiping, when they were met half way by Chinese troops and gradually driven back on the southern wall before they turned and retreated toward Fengtai, seven miles to the west.

Determined Stand

Before wheeling toward Fengtai, the Japanese headquarters and base in the Peiping battle area, they made a determined stand at the railway bridge where the heaviest fighting of the engagement took place. Heavy casualties were reported suffered by both sides.

As they retreated the Japanese were reported to have torn up the railway tracks in the vicinity, shattering outgoing train service from Peiping.

Another Japanese force was said to have launched a futile attack on Nanyuan itself at the same time the column from the north went into action.

Meanwhile rioting was reported in the southern Chinese quarters of the city.

At the height of the battle outside the walls Japanese and Korean citizens who reside in the district were said to have attempted to escape into the old Tartar city—the northern section—only to find the Chien-Men gate, near the U. S. Embassy, barred to them.

The southern city was cut off completely from the Tartar city which contains the former imperial palace and the sacred area. All traffic was stopped and the populace was confined to the houses.

Prepare for Emergency

Tokyo, July 13 (AP)—The Japanese cabinet was reported today to have decided on military measures to solve the North China crisis unless the Chinese government accepts all Japan's terms.

"We are making fullest preparations for the emergency," one member of the cabinet said.

The decision to carry out the government's original plan to end the tense situation was said to have been caused by the increasingly grave developments in the Peiping area. Japanese and Chinese troops have been fighting there since last Wednesday.

Just previously Foreign Minister Koki Hirota had appealed to a war council of Japan's industrial leaders, bankers and business men to support the government's plans to deal with the emergency.

Japan's demands are fourfold: Withdraw all troops from the area of hostilities; punish troops held responsible for the outbreak; end anti-Japanese activities; support Japan's anti-Communism campaign.

"We have no axe to grind in China but our rights there must be respected," Hirota told the council of Japan's business lords. "That is why we are sending reinforcements to enforce our rights and protect the lives and property of Japanese nationals.

"When China returns to normal we will withdraw the reinforcements."

Governmental leaders as well as industrialists were called into war councils in the North China crisis.

$375,000 School Plan Has Board's Approval

New Grade School, Vocational Arts Building and Purchase of Fair Grounds Receive Trustees' Sanction at Education Board Session

The Board of Education at an adjourned meeting Monday evening unanimously voted its approval of the report of the Building Committee's recommendations for the erection of a central eighth grade school, a new vocational arts building and for the purchase of the Kingston Fair Grounds for the purpose of erecting an athletic stadium. The three projects were those contained in Proposition No. 1, as recommended by the Building Committee, and are designed to form a part of a long range program of improvements to the city school system which will evantually bring the school system up to a high standard.

Erection of the new central eighth grade school, at an estimated cost of approximately $238,000, and in it a gymnasium which may be converted into an auditorium for the additional sum of $72,000, erection of a new vocational arts building at an estimated cost of from $40,000 to $45,000 and the purchase of the Kingston Fair Grounds at a cost of $10,000 will bring the total expenditures at present to about $375,000. Of this sum there is being raised in the budget $125,000 and the mayor has agreed that $250,000 can be raised by bond issue.

Approval of the plan was unanimous and the motion of Trustee Remmert contained a provision that the total cost of the project would not be in excess of the $375,000 which will be available.

While the Board agreed on the matter of building program no agreement was reached as to the employment of an architect.

The matter of architect brought forth a long discussion and it was finally agreed that before any architect was employed, in all fairness to all of the architects of the city, the board should call for competitive preliminary design plans for the building. Thus far the only plan which has been presented to the board is that of Teller & Halverson.

Trustee Katz, a member of the building committee, suggested that the board go ahead immediately and name its architect but when this plan met with a long discussion and apparently several of the trustees did not desire to commit themselves as to employment of an architect, he then moved that the board draw up specifications for the required building from which architects might gain some idea as to the requirements and submit their own design for the consideration of the board. It was finally agreed that Mr. Van Ingen and the building committee could prepare such rough specifications and have

112 Dejected 'Kids' Back to New York, Vacation Ruined

Prospects of a vacation in the country dimmed for 112 boys and girls today as three New York city school busses lumbered back to the city bearing the children who had anticipated a happy summer vacation at Camp Minobi near New Paltz.

The boys and girls ranging in ages from about eight to 16, together with their counselors had been ordered to leave the camp on direction of the State Health Department which closed the camp as insanitary after an inspection last week. The exodus took place Sunday afternoon when the 112 boys and girls left camp and took up temporary quarters at the Cedar Park Tourist Camp about a mile from Camp Minobi. The tourist camp is owned and operated by Mrs. F. Neumann and consists of four overnight cabins and the Neumann tourist house.

Spent Night at Quarters

In these small quarters the children spent the night under the direction of their counselors and the Rev. Jacob Bienenfeld, rabbi who represents the Downtown Center at 29 Nassau street, New York city, and who was the proprietor of the camp.

It is alleged that complaint was made to the State Health Department by Ida Oppenheimer, executive secretary of the Jewish Vacation Service in New York city, that conditions at the camp were not as they should be. An inspection was made by W. H. Larkin, district engineer from the State Health Department, who is stationed at Middletown and has charge of this district. Following his inspection the camp was ordered closed.

No Permit Issued.

Difficulties began last Thursday when after an inspection of the

The Board of Public Works held its regular meeting last night in the mayor's office at the City Hall, at which time various matters pertaining to public improvements were discussed and the question of the grade crossing elimination was brought out and given a thorough airing.

Those in attendance were Mayor C. J. Heiselman, Commissioners Roach, Phelps, Kaplan and Emerick, Superintendent David Conway and City Engineer James Norton.

The first matter to come before the board was a communication from Dr. Cofstock regarding permission to connect with the city sewerage system as per contract drawn by the city whereby the cost of this work would in part be borne by the home-owner since the house was outside the city line. Commissioner Roach moved that the City Engineer be instructed to look into the matter and to take the necessary steps. Commissioner Phelps seconded the motion.

Bills and Lights.

Another communication regarding payment of alleged sewerage work was discussed and ordered annulled, when it was brought out that said work had not been done as it was not found necessarry, and therefore no cost had been incurred by the city.

A third letter asking for a light on Stickles avenue was referred to the light committee, and the question of street signs on the same street was referred to proper committee.

Crossing Elimination.

The most discussed question of the meeting concerned the proposal to eliminate all grade crossings in the city.

Communications were read from Public Service Commission, the New York Central Railroad Company, and the Common Council, and various opinions were given concerning the advisability of different ways of accomplishing this project.

The magnitude of the elimination of all grade crossings within the city limits was brought out, and one letter from the Public Service Commission suggesting that the city engineer make a rough estimate of the cost of such a project, was read.

Mayor Heiselman believed that certain maps were needed before the city engineer could prepare an estimate, and he stated that he would endeavor to acquire such maps from the railroad company.

After further discussion it was decided to have the city engineer calculate as accurately as possible with the limited means at his disposal, the cost of the elimination of all grade crossings within the city as per the suggestion of the Public Service Commission, and to report back to the board as soon as he might complete this work.

Resolutions And Projects.

The various resolutions of the Alderman at the recent meeting of the Common Council, were read before the board.

The widening of McEntee street was the next order of business, and it was found that property owners were willing to cooperate with the city in the furtherance of this project. The mayor expressed his endorsement of this work and stated that he hoped it would be pushed along and completed very soon.

A contract was received from the New York Central Railroad Company regarding the mainte-

Clothed Nudity Adds Zero to Gotham's Heat Wave as Burlesque Shows Reopen

New York, July 13 (AP)—"Clothed nudity," successor to burlesque, added nothing to Gotham's heat wave today.

On the contrary, the lobbies of the reopened palaces of the late strip tease were among the cooler spots of the city. Departing audiences spilled frigidity all over the place. They had been left cold.

Inside the theatres, talented young women variety performers smiled and kicked to the old burlesque band music against a backdrop of larger, more statuesque girls, nude from the waist up.

License Commissioner Paul Moss, who ended burlesque here on May 1 by refusing to renew licenses, issued three-months permits to three ex-burlesque theatres yesterday, virtually putting the theatre operators "on their honor" to keep their shows clean. There was no code.

Theatre managers stressed the propriety of the performances. The show girls didn't move, they pointed out.

Observers noticed the audiences were pretty unmoved too. About the highest point of emotion reached in one theatre was mild booing at an act called "strip tease in reverse." In this a girl steps out clothed only in scanty tights and a man dresses her with brassiere, underthings and evening gown.

Jokes were cleaned too. This one is typical: A man goes to a telegraph desk, wants to send a message to his wife.

"Where does your wife live?" asks the attendant.

"Schenectady," is the reply.

"Spell it," says the attendant.

"I guess my wife moved to Troy," says the man.

This joke warmed up the icy show for one bald-headed burlesque fan in his fifties. It brought back memories, he said. It was a regular stingeroo when he was a boy.

Steel Workers Enter Illinois Plants Idle 46 Days; No Pact Signed

Placards Bearing Name of Chicago Manager of Youngstown Group Declare Same Conditions Exist as Before Strike.

POLICE PATROLS

Reopening Heralded as Victory by Rival Factions in Bitter Steel Fight.

East Chicago, Ind., July 13 (AP)—Idle for 46 days, steel workers marched peacefully through gates of the Youngstown Sheet and Tube Company plants here and at South Chicago today to resume production at the last of the strikebound Calumet district mills.

By trains, city buses and automobiles, they came, reporting at gates marked with large notices that "this plant is open for work on the conditions which existed when work was stopped on May 26."

The signs, bearing the name of J. E. Daily, manager of the Chicago district for Youngstown, added "we have not made any agreement or contract with any official person or organization."

R. S. Poister, assistant to Daily, said almost 2,500 were back at the Indiana Harbor Mill at 8:30 a. m. The normal day force, he said, was 3,000.

Patrols of railroad and city police watched over the throng.

The reopening was heralded as a victory by the rival factions in the bitter steel dispute that at one time affected 73,000 workers in seven states and in which 15 persons lost their lives.

Victory Disputed

The Steel Workers' Organizing Committee, C. I. O. group which called the strike, characterized resumption of work a victory for its cause, but the Association of Steel Employes, an independent union, and the company disputed this.

Drizzling rain dampened any plans for demonstrations although there were scattered friendly greetings between workmen.

Hundreds from other shifts massed at the gates were told to return at their regular hours. Among them were some 50 women employes.

Company officials said 24 hours would be required for preliminary operations and that normal production would be attained by Thursday.

Van A. Bittner, C. I. O. chieftain, said his followers "are showing our good faith, and our responsibility as parties to a compact" by returning to work in spite of the company's denial an agreement had been reached.

Gates Open for 7,000.

East Chicago, Ind., July 13 (AP).—Youngstown Sheet & Tube Company threw open the gates of its Calumet district steel plants today for all of its 7,000 employes who desired to return to work.

The reopening, after a shutdown of 46 days, signalized resumption of operations by the last of the strike bound plants in northern Indiana.

Leaders of the steel workers organizing committee, which called the strike and their followers hailed the reopening as a C. I. O. victory. But their claims were disputed by the company, and the Association of Steel Employes, an independent union.

Conflicting statements from company officials and Gov. M. Clifford Townsend of Indiana also added to the confusion over the strike settlement.

The Indiana executive declared the company and the S. W. O. C. had come to terms. Vice President J. C. Argetsinger, of Sheet & Tube, denied this. He said the company had made no agreement, written or verbal, and had granted concessions to no one.

The lack of understanding was reflected in the actions of strikers. On three occasions yesterday pickets massed about the firm's Indiana Harbor plant, only to be called away by their leaders.

Trains Available

New York Central trains running to Sheet & Tube's Indiana Harbor, Ind., plant were available for returning workers, company officials said, adding the trains were "adequately protected by the railroad." An official of the road said the trains were not special and made regular trips to the station near the plant.

Argetsinger informed Governor Townsend the company expected the state to furnish protection against violence when the plants reopened but the governor replied pickets had withdrawn and there was no need for protection.

Governor Townsend said the company voluntarily submitted a satisfactory labor policy to the S. W. O. C. and that it therefore was morally obligated to abide by that policy.

The company announced it would post signs at its plants stating the reopening was the result of demands by employes and not through any pressure by or agreement with the S. W. O. C.

Van A. Bittner, S. W. O. C. regional director, announced the C.

G. A. Howells' Will Leaves Large Sums in Trust to Local Institutions — Died June 7.

CODICIL CHANGES

Industrial Home was to Have Benefited But Change Favors Y. M. C. A.

By the will of George A. Howells, late of 203 Fair street, Kingston, who died in this city on June 7, last, a large estate is disposed of through various trust funds. Among the local institutions which are to share large sums is the Kingston Hospital which is given $100,000 in trust, The Home for the Aged one-half of a $75,000 bequest and the Y. M. C. A. of Kingston one-half of a $75,000 bequest. These institutions also participate in a portion of the residuary estate.

After certain trust funds are set up for the widow of deceased and a brother, there are several additional bequests to institutions and provision is made for the payment of moneys to the local institutions from trust funds when these trust funds terminate.

The will has been presented for probate in the Ulster County surrogate's office and a hearing was held today and the matter adjourned pending the taking of testimony of witnesses in Kings county. The estate is described as being over $20,000 personal and real unknown. Cullen & Dykman of 177 Montague street, Brooklyn, are attorneys for petitioners and were also the attorneys who drew the will.

The will is dated January 5, 1931, and there are two codicils, the first dated December 14, 1932, and the second March 11, 1935.

Codicils Added

The codicils are added for the purpose of making changes in the original will. By the first codicil a change is made only in the event of a shrinkage of the anticipated value of the estate and provides for payment to the widow of deceased of 4-5 of the estate and 1-5 of the estate to a brother only in the event the estate will not cover the anticipated sum of $200,000 set up as a trust fund and $75,000 as a trust fund, the incomes of which are directed paid to the widow and brother respectively. The second codicil revokes a provision whereby the Industrial Home would get one-half of a $75,000 trust fund at the death of a brother of deceased and provides for the payment of this money to the Kingston Y. M. C. A. instead. The second provision of this second codicil also provides that a portion of the residuary estate which in the original will would go to the Industrial Home shall go to the Y. M. C. A.

After directing that the executor pay all debts and funeral expenses the will recites that the Brooklyn Trust Company shall be the executor and trustee of the trusts established under the will without bond. The executor and trustee shall have power to sell real property. The will also provides that the executor and trustee shall have power to retain for the principal of the trust funds any securities owned by deceased or sell them when deemed expedient.

After all debts and expenses have been paid the will provides that to his wife, Marian Hornbeck Howells, shall go all personal effects, jewelry and other tangable non-producing personal property and also the sum of $5,000 which shall be paid to her as soon after the death of Mr. Howells as practicable and without reference to final settlement.

Brother Benefits

To a brother, Harry Howells, is given similarly $1,000; to Greenwood Cemetery Association $500 for perpetual care of plot.

To the Brooklyn Trust Company is given in trust the sum of $200,000, the income of which is to be paid to wife of deceased during her lifetime.

At the death of Mrs. Howells the principal of this trust is given in trust, $100,000 to the Kingston Hospital to be known as The Mary Glasgow Howells Fund in memory of Mr. Howells' mother, and $100,000 in trust to the Brooklyn Hospital to be known as The George Howells Fund in memory of Mr. Howells' father. Income from these trust funds are to be paid to the institutions.

To his brother the will provides for the establishment of a $75,000 trust fund, the income to be paid to Harry Howells during his lifetime and at his death one half of the fund, to be known as the Marian Hornbeck Howells Fund in memory of his wife, will go to The Home for the Aged in Ulster County. The remaining half under the original will would be given to the Industrial Home in trust to be known as The Marian Hornbeck Howells Fund, but the

Hotter Weather Ahead For Most of Nation

(By The Associated Press.)

Warmer weather was forecast for most of the nation today after an interlude of thunderstorms that provided temporary relief to nearly all of the 25 states held in the grip of a week-old heat wave.

J. R. Lloyd, government meteorologist, said the only cool spot on the heat striken area was a "narrow belt extending from southwestern Kansas to southeastern Minnesota."

An Associated Press survey showed at least 357 persons in 25 states died from causes attributable to the prolonged heat wave. New York led with a total of 68. New Jersey had 49 and Connecticut 38.

In Chicago two heavy downpours yesterday sent temperatures down 15 degrees from the day's high of 88.

Nine inches of rainfall flooded streets and basements of business houses at Blockton, Ia. The first rain since mid-June checked the heat in northern South Dakota. Showers also broke the hot spell in the New England States. Heavy rains last night caused unestimated damage in rural districts near Wheeling, W. Va.

Heat deaths by states included: New York, 68; New Jersey, 49; and Connecticut, 38.

Contractor, Victim of Heat.

Nyack, N. Y., July 13 (AP).—David Adrian MacLeod, retired contractor, died yesterday of a heart attack brought on by the heat. He was 80, and had retired five years ago from the presidency of the D. C. Weeks Co., contracting firm which had executed many big construction projects in New York and other cities.

Mr. MacLeod personally supervised construction of the Cathedral of St. John the Divine; the chapel, library and recreation hall at Vassar College, and pretentious homes of many wealthy residents of Newport, R. I., and New York. His wife was the former Emma Adele Devoe, who died in 1933. Survivors are one son, Adrian D., of Nyack, and

Court Showdown In 2 Weeks, Report At Capitol Today

Washington, July 13 (AP).—Forecasts of a court bill showdown in ten days or two weeks came today from some senators on both sides.

Opposition leaders, declaring they had 41 certain votes and a half dozen others "within reach," said there was no need for a filibuster.

"We can win without it," commented Senator Wheeler (D.-Mont.) at the start of the fourth day's attack on the controversial measure.

Administration chieftains, on the other hand, stuck by their contention that they had enough votes to pass the compromise bill. It authorizes appointment of one additional Supreme Court justice each year if members over 75 do not retire.

The opposition strategists predicted approval of a motion to send the bill back to the judiciary committee, which would sidetrack it at least for the remainder of this session. The motion probably will be made as soon as they have finished their case.

Publicly, the line up still was 49 against the compromise measure and 39 for it. Several of the remaining 17, however, were committed privately one way or the other.

Senator Bailey (D.-N. C.), who started speaking against the bill late yesterday, retained the floor in order to resume his address this noon.

Opposition leaders said a half dozen Democrats were ready to follow Bailey, and that the Republicans probably would get into the fray within another day or two.

Rebels and Reds Wrestle in Hot Battle On Castillian Plain; Report Heavy Loss

Madrid, July 13 (AP)—Spanish insurgent and government armies wrestled today in the heart of an inferno of artillery and aerial bombardments on the stark Castillian plain 15 miles west of Madrid.

Villanueva Del Pardillo, itself virtually leveled by the clash of two modern war machines and now claimed by the government as another segment of what once was insurgent territory, was the vortex.

Hot summer winds carried the stench of death and the cries of the dying over the shell-torn terrain. Whole villages had been blotted out in the week-old government offensive and insurgent counter-thrusts.

Scarcely a house remained whole in Villanueva Del Pardillo and Quijorna, said eye-witnesses who toured the front lines of Miaja's salient.

Boadilla Del Monte, while still in the hands of Generalissimo Francisco Franco's insurgents, had been turned into a roaring furnace by government shells and bombs.

Bodies of Moorish troops who had garrisoned Villanueva Del Pardillo and Quijorna lay in heaps around the ruined towns. Quijorna fell last week to the government thrust and Villanueva Del Pardillo was reported taken yesterday.

All through yesterday and last night, roads leading into various villages held by both Miaja's army and its foes were bombed and machine gunned in two-sided aerial operations.

A defense ministry communique from Valencia reported 13 insurgent planes brought down in one of the most successful days of the government's aerial warfare in the nearly year-old civil war. The government put its own losses in the day's operations at three planes.

(An insurgent report said, however, that Franco's airmen shot down about eight government pursuit planes and five bombers on the Madrid front).

Y. W. C. A. Camp Has Newspaper

Camp Preumaker, Glenerie, N. Y., July 12—Aiming to found "The Camp World's Greatest Newspaper," Preumaker campers organized "The Daily Burp," yesterday with daily, weekly, and radio editions. The endeavor got under way at the Sunday night campfire, with an hour's radio broadcast of music, gossip, and news by the "Daily Burp" staff.

Ace reporters on the new paper include Ted Wood and John Kaufman, snoopers, and Ken Snyder, sports commentator, who took part in the broadcast. Also on the program were the Trumpeteers, Bob Van Valkenburg, Ken Snyder and John Rowland, and novelty artists, Sid Wolven, Don Shader, Jacob Myers and Director Henke.

A studio audience of campers, with their friends and parents, witnessed the "broadcast" and cheered the entertainers. The program will become a regular Sunday night feature of the camp. Guests are welcome to witness the Saturday and Sunday night programs which begin at 8:30 p. m.

The daily edition of the paper appears on the camp blackboard each morning, and goes through several editions during the day. The weekly edition will be mimeographed, and will contain the news summary of the week. This edition will be bound at the end of the season and distributed to the campers for a permanent souvenir of camp.

The official board of editors of the paper will be named soon. On the staff at the present time, in addition to those who took part in the radio program, are Robert Russell, John Shults, and Herbert Spahn. Advisers to the undertaking are Harry Gumaer, Francis Phillips, and William Grothkopp of the Camp Staff.

Saturday night was stunt night at Preumaker, with Cabin 4 taking the honors. The group presented burlesques on the various camp leaders, and won the coveted "seconds" of ice cream for Sunday noon dessert. Campers in this cabin are Fred Storms, Harold Watrous, Whitey Pogomore, John Rowland, Ted Wood and Ken Snyder. Leaders are Alva Bruce and Robert Van Valkenburgh. Cabin 3 took second place.

Winner of the camp inspection for the first week was Cabin 1. The cabins are inspected each day for cleanliness inside and out, and the individual bunks and the personal cleanliness of the campers are checked on by a committee of leaders. Members of the winning cabin include Don Shader, Ray Dugan, Alfred Wolven, Frank Bunce, Francis Crantz and Joseph Crantz. They are under the direction of Coach Kias and Harry Flowers. Cabin 4 took second place in inspection.

Two new campers who arrived Sunday are Robert Stabile and George Ackerman, who will be in Cabin 2.

SHIPS AND SCHOOLS

Four hundred English ships, from great ocean liners to small tramp steamers, have joined the British Ship Adoption Society, organized about a year ago. Members of that society get in touch with schools throughout the country and keep in touch with pupils by means of an exchange of letters, photographs and interesting bits of news. It is reported of one large vessel that every officer and cadet as well as a number of the crew are writing regularly to school boys and girls. The latter send books and magazines and letters to their adopted ships.

The arrangement is considered a great aid to the study of geography. It must have other accomplishments to its credit, such as making the rising generation of Britons familiar with and enthusiastic about the nation's merchant marine. Some captains have offered prizes for essays on sea life. One has arranged a wireless code with his school and communicates with pupils occasionally. The pupils of a school in Nottinghamshire, whose fathers are miners and who will probably be miners themselves some day, have a happy outlook on the sea through their correspondence with an oil tanker.

This ought to be a thrilling hobby for many youngsters, particularly for boys. And the idea is capable of application to other branches of national life.

BONES FOR WAR DOGS

According to foreign reports, President Roosevelt, in recent talks with Premier Van Zeeland of Belgium, suggested a program to end the danger of another big war. The means suggested would be "political and economic appeasement".

That is a mouth-filling phrase. What does it mean? Apparently easing the strain on hard-pressed and discontented nations by giving them things they need. The relief would have to be mainly economic, because economic conditions produce political conditions, leading to dictatorships and so on. It would include more trade, more credit, more access to raw materials, less spending for armament, and so on. The various governments would discuss such matters informally through their diplomats. If they seemed to be getting anywhere, there would be a general conference.

If anything can be done to stop the apparent drift toward another great war, perhaps this is the way to begin. The big question is whether the discontented powers, the "have-nots", will be reasonable in their demands, and whether the "haves" will be generous in sharing their gains from the last war.

Will Britain and France give Germany back her colonies and give Italy access to raw materials? Will Britain, France, America and the rest cut tariffs to stimulate international trade? Will all the powers quit fighting each other's political systems? It is very hard for nations, however sensible at home, to deal sensibly with each other.

DYEING THE OCEAN

Tests made in the Mediterranean indicate discovery of a method whereby ocean flyers forced down at sea may improve their chances of rescue. A quantity of fluorescein—a strong coal tar dye—is released. The water in the vicinity is changed to a distinctive color which may be recognized for a considerable distance.

In the experimental tests, 22 pounds of the chemical colored an area nearly 300 yards square. The marking lasted from 12 to 15 hours and was visible at a distance of 10 miles. This should be very helpful in or near regular shipping lanes. It does not sound as if it would have been much help in the search for Miss Earhart and Captain Noonan, forced down far off the beaten trail of steamers or airplanes.

CHAOS IN THE SENATE

It is very unfortunate that the Supreme Court debate at Washington should come to a head in midsummer. Here is a matter which obviously calls for cool weather and cool temper. The opening days of this historic business, last week, coinciding with a wave of hot weather, developed what correspondents called "the worst parliamentary wrangle in years." The senators, "flying at one another with snarls, shouts and ridicule," gave a glaring example of the wrong way to handle such an important and historic argument. If feeling is so high and nerves are so frazzled now, what will they be during the dog days?

A large part of the excitement and belligerency is honest concern for the welfare of the country, but also a large part of it is politics. The more the former factor is played up and the latter is played down, the better it will be for everybody.

The senators have a difficult and exasperating job, but that is all the more reason for not flying off the handle. They seem to need breathing exercises or something. It might help if they would take a leaf out of the Coue system, and tell themselves when retiring and arising: "Every day in every way I am getting calmer and calmer."

SLEEPLESSNESS

"Insomnia—inability to sleep—is one of the most common afflictions of civilized man. It may interfere with the growth and development of the infant in arms, retard or hold back the recovery of medical and surgical patient, and torment the aged. It is increasingly common after the age of 40. It may be so mild as to be simply a slight annoyance or so severe as to actually endanger life. It is one of the commonest causes of lack of mental and physical energy. It is unquestionably one of the most common causes of drug addiction."

I am quoting Dr. Edward H. Ochsner, Chicago, in Clinical Medicine and Surgery.

Sleep is as important in the building up of tissue and health in general as is food itself, and any lack of the amount required by the individual means not only a lowering of vitality and energy, but a lowering of the individual's resistance to disease.

While the cause of sleep is still not fully known Dr. Ochsner calls attention to some causes and suggests some remedies that should be of help to everybody.

"Light is the cause of sleeplessness much oftener than is generally supposed. A light that is so faint as to be hardly noticeable to one person may disturb a more sensitive person's sleep—a crack under the door in the city, moonlight in the country."

Instead of using dark blinds or shutters a fine black-silk cloth over the eyes is recommended. This must be held snugly but comfortably by means of a head band.

"A snug, comfortable eye-shade, which will stay in place and will shut out all light effectively, answers three other valuable purposes. For campers and hunters who have to sleep in the open; for night workers who have to sleep in the day time; and for elderly persons who like to take a short nap after the noon meal, it is a great boon." It is now possible to purchase these black-silk eye shades in sporting goods and department stores.

Another cause of sleeplessness mentioned in the above article was colonic stasis—slowness of movement of lower bowel—which allows the absorption of wastes or poisons from the food into the blood. When there is no infection from gall bladder, appendix, or generative organs, castor oil is the treatment recommended.

FLAME TRAIL

BY MARIE DE NERVAUD

SYNOPSIS: Josh Hastings, owner of the Flying Six, tries to buy Kay Crandon's Lazy Nine after her ranch house and barn burn. He also tries to court Kay. She distrusts him and is determined to keep her ranch and rebuild. Hastings' cowhand, Scrap Johnson, molests Kay, but Ted Gaynor, a puncher she impulsively hired, rescues her and whips Scrap. Later they shoot it out, wounding each other. Hastings, hating both, finds them and murders Scrap, using Ted's gun. Ted crawls to a shack where a girl takes him in. Hastings escorts Kay home one night, telling her an ugly story about Ted.

Chapter 24

'Don't Be A Fool!'

"WHAT'S the hurry?" Josh Hastings pounded up beside Kay and, reaching over, put a possessive hand on her arm. "It's a crime to go rushing through a moonlight night at this pace! Slow down and I'll promise not to tell you any more sordid stories."

Kay's only answer was to shake her arm free and urge Flicker on to greater speed.

An ugly look settled on Josh Hastings' face as he was forced by her action to follow suit. Flicker was a faster horse than his, and he had no more time for talking, if he was going to keep up.

Already, he was losing ground a bit, and as Kay glanced over her shoulder and saw him falling behind, a reckless spirit of mischief overcame her prudence.

She knew it was a silly thing to rouse his temper, but she couldn't resist the temptation to pay him back for telling her that story about Ted. Realizing perfectly that nothing was more galling to a man's pride than to be left behind by a girl, she deliberately pushed Flicker to the limit, and streaked ahead of him.

She had arrived at the corral, turned Flicker loose, and was just starting back to her cabin when he came pounding up.

He pulled up so sharply that his horse slipped to his haunches and almost went down. The next instant he was off, and before Kay could guess his intention, he seized her in his arms, and pressed his lips savagely to hers.

"That'll teach you not to play monkey tricks with me!" His voice was thick with rage and passion, as he held Kay's shoulders in an iron grip and bent his face close to her. "You'd better learn it now! Because I mean to marry you, you little spitfire!"

Regardless of Kay's blazing eyes, and her choked "Let me go!" as she writhed in his grasp, he kissed her again. Then he sprang into his saddle and galloped off without a backward look.

Panting and trembling with fury, Kay watched him go, her mind seething with the outrage. It had all taken place so swiftly, that she could hardly believe it had happened at all.

With a gasp of disgust, she wiped the back of her hand across her lips, and clenched her fist as she gazed after the retreating figure in the moonlight.

Much as she had disliked Josh Hastings, she had never thought to be on her guard against an act like this! Why, he was old enough to be her father! She grabbed her handkerchief and scrubbed her lips as though to cleanse them of his polluting touch.

Marry him! A shudder ran through her, and a weak, helpless feeling of dread laid a cold clutch on her heart. Suddenly she felt utterly defenseless and alone. Who could she turn to? Aunt Kate and Babs were completely under Josh Hastings' spell; she could expect no help from them. And if Ted failed her—

Summons To Aunt Kate

JOSH Hastings' insinuating story flashed in her mind, and in spite of her disbelief, she found herself going over it, bit by bit.

Even if the worst implications about the girl were false, Ted had probably been involved in some sort of affair with her. And there was that other rumor about the dark haired girl he had fought over, that very day when he had later come so splendidly to her rescue—

Kay straightened up suddenly and walked quickly back to the cabin, her head proudly high, though her breath still came in quick, uneven jerks. It was certainly nothing to her how many girls Ted had! All she wanted him to come back for was to rebuild her house and barn for her!

Memory of Josh Hastings' kiss flashed over her again, and running up the steps of her cabin, she hastily lit a candle and flung herself down at her father's desk. Something in its very solidity, and the associations that clung to it, gave her a truly comforting sense of strength.

"He thinks he's going to marry me, does he?" Kay savagely pulled open a drawer and took out a sheet of note paper. "We'll see about that!"

She scribbled a note to Aunt Kate, saying that she was going to send over for them the next afternoon. They could have her cabin, and she could sleep outside in her sleeping bag. Signing it without further explanation, she left it on her desk, so that she could give it to one of the boys to take over the first thing in the morning. Then, with the same feverish haste, she undressed and flung herself into bed.

After a restless night of both waking and sleeping nightmares, Kay was out at the crack of dawn, and over at the bunk house with her note.

After she had actually dispatched Shorty with the summons to her family to leave the Flying Six, she felt better, and by the time breakfast was over, she had persuaded herself that Josh Hastings had made up that story out of whole cloth, for the sole purpose of damaging Ted in her eyes.

"When Ted comes back, I'm going to tell him the whole thing," she resolved, as she made her way over to the bunk house to consult Seth about getting another cot put up in her cabin for Babs.

It was nearly 10 o'clock before Shorty came back from the Flying Six. Kay hastily tore open the note he handed her, addressed in her aunt's cramped, old fashioned handwriting. A slow color rose in her cheeks as she read it through, and then started it over again.

She was suddenly aware of Shorty's eyes on her. Biting her lip to steady herself, she looked up at him.

"Thanks, Shorty. There isn't any answer." She turned away with the note clenched in her hand, and ran down to her cabin. Seated at the desk, she spread it out before her, and incredulously read its surprising contents again.

Dear Kay:

Don't be a fool! You're not the first girl to be kissed on a moonlight night! Josh Hastings has told me all about it, and his generous and honorable intentions toward you.

I certainly have no idea of coming back until the house is finished. You can insist on Babs coming, but you'll be pulling a hornet's nest about your ears if you do.

I say again—don't be a fool!

Your affectionate
AUNT KATE.

Kay drew a long quivering breath as she settled back and gazed at the door, where some flies buzzed drowsily in the heat. Suddenly, one of them brushed against a cobweb and became more and more enmeshed as it tried to get away.

With an impulsive movement, Kay jumped up and put a finger through the web, thus setting the fly free.

"If only someone would do that for me!" she murmured, as she settled down and read Aunt Kate's letter again. Forcing herself not to let her judgment be influenced by her indignation, she tried to consider it calmly.

No Way To Fight Him

WHAT Aunt Kate said about Babs was perfectly true. Kay realized that she hadn't any too firm a hold over Babs' headstrong and self-willed nature. And if she insisted on her coming back in the face of Aunt Kate's determination to stay, life wouldn't be worth living.

Viewed in the light of Aunt Kate's scornful "don't-be-a-fool!", it did seem ridiculous to make such a fuss about a moonlight kiss. And by forestalling her, and telling Aunt Kate about it, and his desire to marry her, Josh Hastings had cut most of the ground for righteous indignation from under her feet.

There just didn't seem any way to fight this insidious move of Josh Hastings, to get her family under his influence, and lined up against her.

She could tell Aunt Kate about his plot to get her timberland away from her. But that would involve telling the whole beastly experience with Scrap Johnson, and Kay had none too much confidence in her aunt's discretion, to want to trust her with that story.

Besides, she'd probably explain away Josh Hastings' part in it by saying that he'd been trying to protect her from making a foolish move.

As long as she was caught in the trap, she might as well accept it gracefully. To have Babs at home, in a rebellious mood, when there was so much to be done, would be anything but a help. And to put such tragic emphasis on a kiss snatched in the moonlight, was to magnify the importance of it out of all proportion.

Reluctantly admitting that perhaps she had been a fool to be quite so hasty and dramatic about it, Kay crunched up the note, and threw it into the waste-basket.

Man About Manhattan

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—There is a pharmacist on Lexington avenue whose daily chores provide one of New York's most fascinating entertainments. A glassed-in circle has been cut through his wall, and behind the pane is a display of drugs that leaves anyone who doesn't understand chemistry confused and confounded.

All day the pharmacist prowls amongst his tinctures and elixirs, his aquas and acids.

Being in a nosey mood, I stuck my head through the door: "What's in that blue bottle?"

"There is no blue bottle," he answered. "The bottle is just like ordinary glass—it's the water that's blue. It's an aqua used for flavoring."

HIS name was Sam.

There was a gathering, as usual, staring at Sam and his hundreds of blue and yellow and red, black, green, purple, and rose-colored bottles.

"Don't you ever make a mistake? I mean, get the wrong ingredients in some of these concoctions?"

"No," said Sam, "when you make mistakes in this business people die. We can't afford to have such things happen."

It was hot. Twenty feet away was a fountain.

"Let's have a soda," he suggested, laying down whatever that greenish stuff was.

WE AMBLED up to the fountain.

"You go ahead and have one. I'm not thirsty."

Sam looked up suspiciously. "I know what's on your mind. Didn't I tell you we didn't make mistakes around here?"

"Well, if you're sure there won't be any H-2-S-0-4 in it, I'll have one. Make it strawberry."

No mistake was made.

Afterward I strolled outside and joined the mob watching the rows of little coral, pigeon-blood, lavender, jade, bay, and russet bottles. There was Sam, serving as an entertainer, compounding medicines, tossing acids around and blending his sulphurs and phosphates.

It's something to see.

She's a French gunboat, and she's been in dock for two weeks. . . . That white cylinder is a long-range gun. . . . It could bore holes through every brick wall in Manhattan. . . . Passing drivers pause to scrutinize the strange craft. . . . Pedestrians make life unhappy for the cops, ganging up to have a peek. . . . Everybody seems excited except the French, themselves . . . there isn't a single sailor in sight.

Sundown Stories

Bunnies

By MARY GRAHAM BONNER

RIP was so sleepy after all the excitement that he fell right asleep against Willy Nilly. Mrs. Quacko Duck's eyes simply could not stay open and she fell asleep against Rip. Christopher Columbus Crow decided he would not stay on the fender and be on the watch-out. He would rest for awhile. So he flew into the car and rested back of Willy Nilly.

In the trailer all were asleep.

No one asked where they were going. No one really cared. They were on a trip with Willy Nilly and the little man was having a fine rest and change. That was all that mattered.

Nor did Willy Nilly know just where he would go next. He thought about it as he drove along. He thought, too, of how splendidly the Puddle Muddlers had acted. It was because of their cleverness that the man had been willing to put his car in such good shape. Never had it gone so smoothly.

"I might," he thought, "pay a visit to some skunks. They're gentle animals and pretty, too. They only give forth that very horrid smell when they are frightened, and, after all, they have to have some means of protection.

"But they're none too fond of dogs, and Rip might frighten them and then we'd have to bathe and bathe and bathe to get rid of their smell. Maybe I'll stop and see some rabbits. Some dogs go after them and the rabbits have to be on their guard. But Rip won't bother them, I know. He is an exceptional dog that way. I suppose it is because he has so much to amuse him, I think, after all. I'll let the Puddle Muddlers sleep while I pay this call."

But there was a cry of fear.

Tomorrow—"Baby Bunnies."

DID YOU MISS COLLEGE?

Don't Feel Inferior; Educate Yourself

Do you fear that college-bred people put you in a different class from themselves?

You needn't feel handicapped because you haven't the money to go on with school. With today's resources for culture—newspapers, magazines, movies, radio, libraries, inexpensive editions of the classics—you can make your own college course. All you need is a definite plan and a few minutes each day.

The quickest way to develop background is to get to the bottom of the cultural talk of the day. Is it of the best-selling novel? Compare this with other novels you've read. Find out more about the period, the setting, the characters—if they're drawn from history. Does the novel deal—as many do now—with psychological problems? Brush up a bit on psychology. The next time you hear the novel discussed you've a background to talk from.

Read up on the American system of government to give yourself a stimulating viewpoint on political news.

Then fill in the gaps, pull yourself to a higher level of culture with a planned course of reading. Our 40-page booklet, SUPPOSE YOU HAVEN'T GONE TO COLLEGE, gives a basic outline for becoming an alert, well-informed person. How to use newspapers, magazines, radio and movies for cultural advancement. Place yourself on equal footing with college people this easy way.

Send 15c for our booklet, SUPPOSE YOU HAVEN'T GONE TO COLLEGE, to Kingston Daily Freeman, Home Institute, 109 West 19th Street, New York, N. Y. Write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, and the NAME of booklet.

Tea Towels Done in Cross Stitch with Outline Stitch or Applique

Better than a picnic is the fun you'll have embroidering tea towels with these gayer than gay motifs—luscious cross stitched fruits and homey everyday kitchenware. Do the dishes in outline stitch or applique as you choose. The patch is a simple one to handle and adds a splash of color. It's a novel idea to have a set of these ready to offer at your State Fair in the fall. In pattern 5891 you will find a transfer pattern of six motifs averaging 5½ x 6½ inches; material requirements; color suggestions; illustrations of all stitches used.

To obtain this pattern send 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred) to the Kingston Daily Freeman, Household Arts Dept., 259 W. 14th street, New York, N. Y. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS and PATTERN NUMBER.

The more than 170,000,000 acres of federally owned national forests shelter almost 75 per cent of the remaining big game range. In these forests, more than 30 million persons annually seek rest and recreation. The forests are in 37 states and in Alaska and Puerto Rico. A visitor may travel through them and find all the conveniences needed, or he may visit the 70 primitive areas which have neither roads nor civilization.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By CLAUDE R. JAGGER

New York, July 13 (AP).—Stocks wavered in today's quiet market session and many of the leaders stepped back fractions to around 2 points.

Volume dwindled appreciably on the decline. Near the final hour quotations were down near their bottom levels. Transfers were at the rate of about 800,000 shares.

Motor stocks were among the first to give ground. Steels started well but were unable to continue the forward tilt. Farm implements were resistant. Rails and utilities, on the whole, were indifferent. Packing company issues developed a following.

Down the greater part of the day were General Motors, Chrysler, U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Republic, Boeing, American Telephone, Consolidated Edison, North American, Electric Power & Light, Anaconda, Cerro De Pasco, American Smelting, Sears Roebuck, Standard Oil of N. J., N. Y. Central, Southern Pacific, Pennsylvania, and General Electric.

In a slim groove were Montgomery Ward, Woolworth, United Aircraft, Texas Corp., Southern Railway, Great Northern and Douglas Aircraft.

Gains were registered for Homestake Mining, Armour, Wilson & Co., Swift, J. I. Case, Deere, Kennecott and Western Union.

SPECIAL APPRECIATION FOR FREEMAN EDITORIAL

Mt. Marion, N. Y.,
July 13, 1937.

Editor, Kingston Freeman,
Kingston, N. Y.

Dear Sir:

Your editorial of July 10, concerning the Mt. Marion Fair deserves special appreciation.

Of all the kind and courteous newspaper attention we have received your article distinctly points out with unerring accuracy the mainspring of this affair. Our ideal was to lift people above the pettiness of party politics and remind them for one short day that we are Americans. The self-seeking that is ruining our country today can only be checked by true patriotism, and if, in our small way we gave anyone a patriotic lift, then we feel indeed that our celebration of July 4th was truly a success.

Sincerely,
MRS. WARREN D. MYER.

63 Planes Ready To Search Seas

(By The Associated Press.)

Honolulu, July 13—The greatest war air force ever assembled for a peace-time mission—63 planes—was poised today ready to skim along the mid-Pacific equator in the navy's last search for Amelia Earhart, missing 11 days.

If weather conditions are favorable the planes will zoom from the aircraft Lexington to survey an area of 36,000 square miles centering about bleak Howland Island.

It was Howland Island, a dot of land rising but two feet above the water, that the aviatrix and her navigator, Frederick J. Noonon, aimed for when they took off from Lae, New Guinea—a flight of 2,570 miles. Their last hadio message on July 2 said they were within 100 miles of their goal, that they couldn't see land and that their fuel supply was almost exhausted.

Officials said the giant carrier, expected to reach the search area by dawn, was hampered last night by a tropical storm which might delay the aerial search.

An area 60 miles wide and 600 miles long extending north and south from Howland was mapped for the first day's survey in the hitherto fruitless search.

While the Lexington neared Howland after a journey from San Diego, the coast guard cutter Itasca, pioneer in the vast hunt, headed toward the Gilbert Islands, 600 miles west of Howland. The cutter is expected to reach Arbori Island which is populated, late tomorrow or Wednesday.

Three Girl Fliers In Line For Amelia's No. 1 Rank

LAURA INGALLS, many women fliers will tell you, is "right next to Amelia Earhart" in reputation, although she has not done so much flying recently. Laura cut Amelia's east-west transcontinental record by three hours in 1935, while for her spectacular solo flight around South America the international league of aviators named her the outstanding woman flier of 1934.

LOUISE THADEN says she's too much of a sissy to try any spectacular water flights but she has shown plenty of stuff on land. She holds the sped record for women—197.9 miles an hour. She beat a field of men and women in a race from New York to Los Angeles for the Bendix trophy last year. She was awarded the Harmon trophy for being the outstanding woman flier of 1936.

RUTH NICHOLS has had some bad crackups but always has come back for more. In 1931 she set a woman's record in non-stop straight line flying from Oakland airport to Bowman field, Ky. Next year she ascended 21,000 feet to beat Clarence Chamberlain's record, she was hailed as the outstanding woman flier of 1932. Crash injuries have kept her laid up for the last two years.

Hearst, Ruppert And Paley Listed By Tax Inquiry

Washington, July 13 (AP).—The names of William Randolph Hearst, publisher, Jacob Ruppert, New York brewer and baseball magnate, and William S. Paley of New York, president of the Columbia Broadcasting system, Inc., went into the records of the congressional tax inquiry committee today.

The names were mentioned by O. John Rogge, securities commission counsel, borrowed by the treasury to aid in its investigation of methods by which wealthy persons have been able to reduce their income tax payments.

Before Rogge took the stand James Roosevelt, eldest son and secretary of President Roosevelt, made an unheralded appearance before the committee to deny that he had any interest in a personal holding company in the Bahamas.

Representative Treadway (R-Mass.), took advantage of young Roosevelt's appearance on the stand to demand that he submit his income tax returns for 1930-1935 for study by the committee.

Roosevelt said he was willing to do so but the committee declined to press the demand, deciding to pass on Treadway's motion later in a closed session.

Rogge brought many well known names into his testimony.

The newly formed Ladies' Auxiliary probably will take part in the parade, also. Thursday night the ladies are to consider the convention at their meeting in the engine house. Officers will be elected.

The Excelsior clambake will be held from 12 noon until 12 midnight, with a full program of social activities, including the meal and dancing.

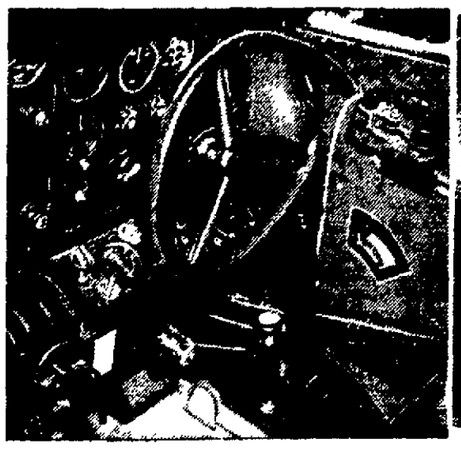
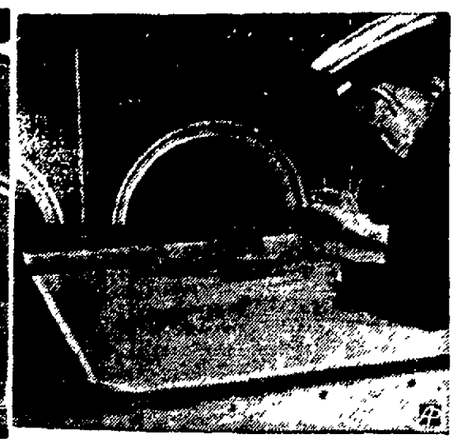
Precise Navigation Conquers Ocean That Trapped Amelia



IN THE EARHART PLANE
Look at this instrument—pocketed control board in Amelia Earhart's plane—and you'll see what a job it was for only two persons Miss Earhart and Navigator Fred Noonan—to keep tab on everything. (Note radio sending key at right).



IN AN AIRLINER
There are just as many instruments in the ocean-flying Pan-American clippers but there are a half dozen men to do the tasks Navigator Noonan handled alone. This is the chart room the Pan-American navigator uses for his work.

If Amelia Earhart and her navigator missed their mark in the Pacific, why are transoceanic planes of the commercial airlines able to complete their flights safely? Devon Francis, AP aviation editor, talked to pilots, navigators and airline officials about it, and then he wrote this story.

By DEVON E. FRANCIS
AP Aviation Editor

Port Washington, N. Y.—Undramatically, methodically, winged yachts streak along the air lanes between Europe and America, between America and Asia.

In the water wilderness of the Pacific the world's most famous aviatrix, Amelia Earhart, is lost.

The big transport airplanes fly unerringly to their goals; Miss Earhart, accomplished air woman though she is, misses her tiny target, Howland Island.

The answer may be precise navigation.

Complicated Job

The same formulae developed in the 14th century by mariners who braved the ocean beyond the sight of land is used today by crews of the big flying boats to chart their courses and rob the seas of their terrors.

Today, of course, fliers have multiple navigational aids in their cabins. The ocean transports "shoot" the sun and the stars for bearings, plot their positions by radio triangulation, check their results with dead reckoning and bulwark all their findings with calculations as to "drift".

Periodically, the over-ocean transport navigator tosses overboard a "pineapple," or aluminum bomb. As it breaks on the water far below, he trains his sights on it to determine whether wind is pushing his craft off course.

The reason seemingly for the plight of Miss Earhart and Navigator Fred Noonan is a slight miscalculation as to position in relation to Howland Island, coupled probably with poor visibility.

Doing Six Men's Work

Noonan had not only to navigate but to act as flight engineer, mechanic, radio operator and probably steward, as well, meanwhile fighting off inevitable fatigue. Both on the Pacific transports and the transatlantic survey planes those duties are broken down and assigned to half a dozen men.

All hands get ample rest Precise navigation is the product.

In flying from Lae, New Guinea, to minute Howland Island, Noonan had a multplicity of duties. A sturdy airplane and patient motors could not erase the mistake of plotting a wrong position on the map.

Eden Calls Conferences.

London, July 13 (AP).—Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden summoned the German, French, Russian and Italian ambassadors to the foreign office today for individual conferences to hear his plan to solve the Spanish non-intervention stalemate. Discussion of the plan by the 27-nation non-intervention committee appeared to depend upon its reception by the ambassadors, Count Dino Grandi of Italy, Ivan Maisky of Russia, Charles Corbin of France and Joachim Von Ribbentrop of Germany.

Plaster Fig Leaves

Kanakee, Ill., July 13 (AP)—Plaster fig leaves appropriately placed on nude male statues betokened a truce today in Kanakee's turbulent controversy over realism in art. Prominent citizens who clamored for wraps after one look at the group of nudes sculptor George Grey Barnard presented to Central School appeared satisfied with the stone draping. The exponents of realism were ready to make peace but were unwilling to change their opinions.

Good citizens are much to be desired in a community, but if we never had any wicked ones just think of what we would miss in not getting to talk about them.

Plant disease specialists are first to admit great gaps in their knowledge of the young science of breeding disease resistance into plants But in spite of this, what they do know has proved valuable. Dr. G. H. Coons, of the United States Department of Agriculture, estimates that 17 crops are worth about $66,000,000 a year more because disease resistant varieties have replaced older varieties. He regards this estimate as conservative.

PICNIC SUGGESTION: Always wrap the sandwiches in waxed paper. The baby ants have a lot of fun sliding over it.

Wife—What do you mean by coming home this hour of the morning?

Husband—My dear, its just 12 o'clock.

Wife—Don't be ridiculous. Its past three o'clock.

Husband—Have your way, dear, and believe a 98 cent clock instead of me.

Something On My Breast

There's something on my breast, dear friend, that speaks of sheer disaster;
That irritates me to the core, and makes my blood run faster.
This devilish thing that's on my breast, don't make my heart beat quicker;
It makes me step so lively, that, I seem to be in liquor.
It stricketh closer to me now than any friend or brother,
Until I writhe and claw the air as though about to smother.
There's something on my breast, I say, that makes my breath come faster,
'Tis hot as any red hot stove, this darned old mustard plaster.

June Bridegroom—Would you mind if I went into the smoking compartment for a little while, dearest?

The Bride—To smoke?

June Bridegroom—No! I only want to experience the agony of being away from you, so that the joy of my return will be all the more intensified.

Diner—I say waiter, the flowers on this table are artificial, aren't they?

Waiter—Yes, sir. That's the worst of running a vegetarian restaurant—if we use real flowers, the customers eat them.

Helen—If Jack never makes love to you, why do you keep going around with him?

Nancy—Oh, he's such a relief after a hard day at the office.

Carl — Jeffress was always lucky.

Earl—Why do you say that, Carl?

Carl—He underwent an operation because he swallowed a pearl in an oyster, and the pearl proved valuable enough to cover the cost of the operation and funeral.

Junior—Here, mister, is your pocketbook you dropped down street

Gentleman—Oh, thanks, my little man. Here's a dime for your honesty.

Junior—Oh, that's all right, mister, I kept a half dollar out.

Read It or Not

General Robert E. Lee was technically a prisoner of war at the time of his death in 1870. After Lee's surrender to Grant at Appomattox on April 9, 1865, he was released on parole. Lee made aplication for pardon, but his request was entirely ignored by President Johnson, and he was never restored to citizenship. At the time of his death he was still a paroled prisoner of war, deprived of his civil rights.

HOLLYWOOD—Olympe Bradna—the new face they're yelling about in "Souls At Sea"—owes her first theatrical training to the disaster that befell her father's trained dog act. . . . All the dogs got sick and died at once. . . . Papa Bradna had no money to buy and train more dogs, so he began to train Olympe. . . .

She was 6 then, and a year later she went on the stage as a child dancer. . . . As a dancer she was signed by Paramount a year and a half ago, and she did nothing in pictures but dance until Henry Hathaway took her out of a bit in his sea picture to play opposite George Raft in the same. . . . Olympe is 16, and French — so what are they saying? . . . That's right: "What's Simone got that Olympe hasn't got?" . . .

Flynn And Flapjacks

Another girl who's just coming to light is Bernadene Hayes. . . . Two years ago Mrs. Lela Rogers, Ginger's mother, picked Bernadene as most promising of her crop of dramatic pupils, but the movies didn't see it. . . . Adventurous Errol Flynn may be a big gun with wild beasts, jungle savages, and tropic hazards generally. . . . But I can't hand him much on his flapjack-tossing. . . . Scene in the "The Perfect Specimen" had him juggling a stack of cakes while Joan Blondell and Hugh Herbert stood by waiting for breakfast. . . . Flynn flipped, flapped, and bobbled three takes. . . . "Want 'em wired?" jeered the prop man. . . . Next day Joan had to leave the picture from illness. . . . But I've no positive proof that she actually ate any of Flynn's cakes. . . .

Heat And Cold

Sonja Henie will need a rest after "Lovely To Look At" is finished. . . . Shock of her father's death plus heavy work in icy sound stages—with summer heat outside—has her on the nervous side. . . . She'll follow her father's ashes to Norway after the picture's done. . . .

Is it true that the couch Bob Taylor slept on as a child brought only 15 cents at the auction of his grandfather's effects? . . . Dolores del Rio demands privacy for her heavy dramatic scenes. . . . Even George Sanders, her "Lancer Spy" leading man, has to leave the stage when Dolores "died." . . .

At The Theatres

PREVIEWED

Today

Broadway: "A Day at the Races". With practically nothing to do with the races, the latest and wildest of the Marx Brothers comedy endeavors comes to the Broadway Theatre as one of the most satisfactory fun films of the year. It is grand farce from start to finish as it describes the antics of a horse doctor who becomes the head of a hospital and during the course of events such things happen as a surgical operation conceived and staged with an almost unbelievable sense of the comic and at one period in the show the musically inclined Marx brother strips down a piano to make a harp on which to strum. You can't go wrong on this show. It possesses everything from crude comedy to side splitting laughter, from romance and pretty girls to several song episodes sung by Allan Jones. A Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer presentation featuring Maureen O'Sullivan.

Kingston: "Back Stage" and "Let Tem Live". From England comes this Gaumont-British film that stars Anna Neagle and Arthur Tracy in a drama of back stage life. It is tricky melodrama built around distrust and hatred and a large cast includes Tilly Losch, Jane Winton, Ellis Jeffreys and Helena Pickard and the Hippodrome Girls. "Let Them Live" is the other full length feature on the Kingston bill with Nan Grey and John Howard featured.

Orpheum: "Maid of Salem". Old New England witchcraft is exposed in all its horror and terror in the Orpheum feature picture starring Claudette Colbert and Fred MacMurray. It teaches a moral that fright and suspicion can develop into mob rule of great violence with the resulting injury and death to innocent people. A cast of hundreds and fine settings make this picture doubly enjoyable. "Mandarin Mystery" is the other attraction with Eddie Quillan and Charlotte Henry.

Tomorrow

Broadway: "Pick a Star." With a galaxy of recognized talent plus the assistance of several newcomers, this dance revue is one of the best productions ever to come from the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studio under the supervision of Hal Roach. Directed by Edward Sedgwick, the cast offers Patsy Kelly, Lyda Roberti, Stan Laurel and Oliver Hardy, Jack Haley, Mischa Auer and Rosina Lawrence. New dances, new tunes and some swell comedy antics all help to make his show a thoroughly enjoyable bit of entertainment.

Kingston: "Last Train from Madrid" and "There Goes My Girl." The Spanish civil war is the background for the first of the features at the Kingston and this play deals little with issues as it melodramatically describes the lives of several men and women in their dangerous effort to get through the lines to safety. It's fast moving entertainment and the direction, acting and lighting effects are superior to the mediocre plot. "There Goes My Girl" is the other attraction, a light, racy comedy romance with Gene Raymond starred.

Orpheum: "The King and the Chorus Girl." This film introduces the French star Fernand Gravet to the American movie public and the handsome Mr. Gravet is an appealing new screen personality with a decided accent. In the role of an exiled king who has become bored with living, the story tells how his advisors get a chorus girl to pep up his waning interest in existence. There are some well staged dances and much comedy relief supplied by the capable Edward Everett Horton. Joan Blondell is also in the cast.

Steel Workers Enter Plants

I. O. had won a victory "through the truce arranged by Governor Townsend." His announcement was the signal for "victory" celebrations.

At the same time H. O. Brown, president of the association of steel employes, declared it was a victory for that organization.

3 Men Arrested

Rivalry between the two labor organizations was blamed by police for a fight yesterday in front of the independent union's headquarters. One man was severely beaten. Three men were arrested.

Sheet & Tube's Indiana Harbor plant employs 6,500. Its East Chicago unit employs 500. The latter has been operating on a curtailed basis for a week.

National Guardsmen patrolled the steel district of Massillon, Ohio, where sarike violence caused two deaths and injury to 15.

The guardsmen and police closed C. I. O. headquarters and banned picket lines at Republic Steel Corporation's nearby plant Meanwhile, there were charges and countercharges over responsibility for Sunday's outbreak at the union building.

H. O. Curley, assistant to Police Chief Stanley Switter, said five shots fired from an automatic revolver in the union building provoked his squad of 20 men to return the fire without waiting for orders.

Frank Hardesty, sub-regional director of the S. W. O. C., charged the outbreak was "part of a premeditated plan to shoot down innocent workers to inspire terror." Republic spokesmen denied his contention that foremen of the steel company participated in the shooting.

Mayor Henry W. Krier ordered police to prevent public meetings of either strikers or non-strikers. Police arrested 141 persons after the clash.

Other Plants Reopen

Republic plants at Pittsburgh and Canton reopened yesterday without disorder.

The C. I. O. meanwhile pressed its suit in Federal Court at Columbus, O., to enjoin use of National Guardsmen in the Ohio steel centers. A C. I. O. attorney charged the Guardsmen "have violated not only legal but human rights." A representative of the mayor of Youngstown asserted "chaos prevailed" before the arrival of troops.

Mrs. Anna J. Thomas testified a "deputy" invaded the Massillon strikers' kitchen Sunday night and shot a man who had told women workers there to go to a safer place. William Haines, a Massillon striker, testified he recognized three Republic employes among those who used firearms in the clash.

Goshen Meet Opens Today

Goshen, N. Y., July 13 (AP)—Amateur drivers, including some of America's richest sportsmen and women, held the spotlight today as Goshen's first grand circuit race meeting began at the historic half mile track.

A number of wealthy reinsmen, including Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Harriman, and Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Bliss, were slated to drive in the club trot for amateur drivers. Mrs. Harriman's entry was Calumet Eric while her husband was listed to drive Roland. The E. H. Harriman trophy event for two year old trotters, was the feature event of the regular grand circuit card.

Most of the leading candidates for the rich Hambletonian, to be trotted here August 11, are entered in the Tuxedo, known as the "Little Hambletonian" tomorrow. Thursday Greyhound, champion American trotter, is scheduled for an attempt to lower his own half-mile track record of 2:02. It will mark his first eastern appearance in preparation for a match race with the Italian-owned Muscletone later this summer.

Cotton Defeats Shute, 6 and 5

Walton Heath, Eng., July 13 (AP).—Henry Cotton, British open golf champion, today defeated Denny Shute, United States P. G. A. titleholder, 6 and 5 in their 72-hole match for a purse of $2,500 and "the unofficial world championship."

SAUGUS TEACHER DEMANDS SHE GET OPEN HEARING

Saugus, Mass., July 13 (AP) — Adamant in her demand for a public hearing, pretty Isabelle Hallin remained in seclusion today as her attorney prepared to fight a move to oust her from the high school faculty. He was aided by 14 students who, he said, signed affidavits denying she served them cocktails.

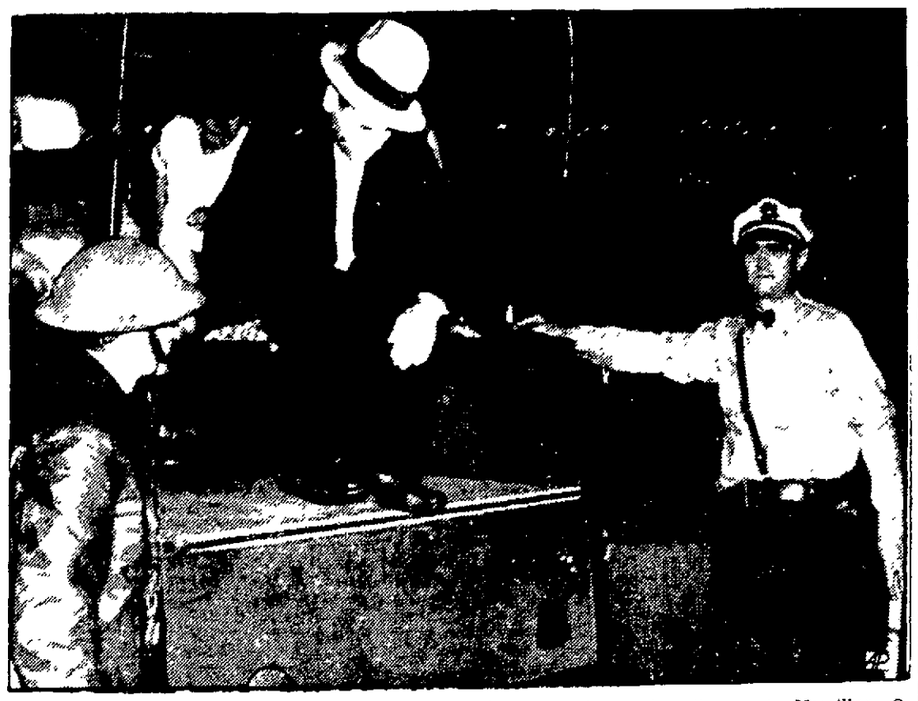
"Star chamber sessions are out," said the attorney, Daniel J. Canning, in announcing the 26-year-old English instructor and dramatics coach would insist on an open hearing by the Saugus school committee tonight.

"If the committee doesn't give us an open hearing I have assurance that the townspeople will," he added.

Green Must Die.

Albany, N. Y., July 13 (AP).—New York's court of appeals decided today that Major Green, 33-year-old negro porter, must die in the electric chair for the murder of Mrs. Mary Harriet Case, 26, who was beaten and choked to death in her New York city apartment last January 11.

SOLDIERS TAKE CHARGE AFTER STEEL STRIKE CLASH



Deaths of two men from bullet wounds in a clash between police and strikers at Massillon, O., brought to 15 the toll of the 7-week old steel strike. Here some of the 100 men taken into custody are shown leaving an Ohio National Guard truck at the city jail.

Kingston Hospital Gets $100,000

codicil changes this provision and provides that it go to the Kingston Y. M. C. A. as The Marian Hornbeck Howells Fund.

To the New York Community Trust is given $100,000 to be added to the endowment fund and to be known as The Addison C. Rand Fund, in memory of deceased friend of Mr. Howells, Addison C. Rand.

To the Perry School, Mount Berry, Ga., goes $25,000 for its endowment fund. This fund is to be known as the Mary Glasgow Howells Fund in memory of mother of deceased.

To James Buchanan Brady Orological Institution of Johns Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore, Md., is given $100,000 to be known as the George Howells Fund.

In the event the James Buchanan Brady Orological Institution is not incorporated the sum of $100,000 is given to Johns Hopkins Hospital and the income is to be devoted to the use of the James Buchanan Brady Orological Institute.

Provisions Made

The will provides that in the event of any shrinkage of the estate the trusts set up are to be established in the order in which they are enumerated in the will and as above outlined. All tax is to be paid from the residuary estate. Then the residuary estate is to be divided up into 20 parcels which are to be disposed of as follows:

Four parts of residuary to Kingston Hospital for general purposes; three of the parts to The Home for the Aged in Ulster County and the Industrial Home, share and share alike for to be used for general purposes. (The provision for the Industrial Home is later revoked by the codicil and that share goes to the Kingston Y. M. C. A.). Four parts are to go to The New York Community Trust for general purposes. One share to The Berry School at Mount Berry, Ga., for general school purposes; four parts to The Johns Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore, for general purposes.

The will is witnessed by John Monaghan of Yonkers; Ralph W. Creally of New York and Francis K. Durk of Brooklyn.

The first codicil provided that in the event the estate will not cover the first two bequests of $200,000 to his widow and $75,000 to his brother, Harry Howells, that four-fifths of the estate go to the widow and one-fifth to the brother. John Monaghan of Yonkers and Harry G. Hill and Francis K. Durk of Brooklyn are witnesses to this codicil, which is dated December 14, 1932.

The second codicil, dated March 11, 1935, revokes the gift to the Industrial Home and provides that the one-half interest in the trust fund of $75,000 shall go to the Kingston Y. M. C. A. and one-half of the three parts of the residuary shall go to the Y. M. C. A. instead of the Industrial Home.

Lewis Seeks to Get City, County, State Employes

Washington, July 13 (AP)—John L. Lewis asked city, county and state employes today to join the C. I. O., but told them they could not strike or picket.

He turned details of the organization campaign over to Abram Flaxer of New York, who, as executive vice president of the new union, has the job of enrolling 2,000,000 members paying $1 a month dues.

The C. I. O. union will be called the State, County and Municipal Workers of America. Firemen, police and school teachers are barred from membership.

Lewis' first excursion into the governmental employe field was denounced in the House yesterday by Rep. Hoffman (R., Mich.), who contended such tactics can not be helpful.

Rep. Voorhis (D., Calif.) said it is ridiculous to accuse "the hundreds of thousands of members of the C. I. O." of Communism.

Architects May Sketch Building

An advertisement appearing in this issue of The Freeman, signed by B. C. Van Ingen, clerk of the Board of Education, calls for "sketches" on new school buildings by resident architects. It is as follows:

"The Board of Education contemplates construction of certain school buildings. Architects interested in submitting 'sketches' may call at the office of the Board in the High School July 14, 15 and 16 between 9:30 and 11:30 a. m. D. S. T. for information. This is open for resident architects only."

Colwells, Sepolpo Held for Forgery

Grace Colwell, 38, of Highland, and her son, Ralph Colwell, 20, were brought to the county jail Monday afternoon by Police Officer Walter Clark of Highland after the two had been arrested by State Troopers Mahoney and Metzer of the B. C. I., and charged with forgery, second degree. The charge is said to involve an amount of about $260.

Both of the Colwells had waived examination and were held to await the action of the grand jury. Later in the day George Rusk appeared for Mrs. Colwell and she was released on bail.

Ralph Colwell was arrested on June 26 and held for a hearing on July 9 when an adjournment was taken until Monday when Colwell asked for a hearing before Justice Walter P. Seaman. Mrs. Colwell was arrested Monday and when arraigned waived examination as had her son and she too was held for the grand jury.

Monday James Sepolpo, 20, of Highland, was also arrested on a forgery, second degree, charge by the B. C. I. men. Arraigned before Justice of the Peace Seaman he asked for a hearing and his case was adjourned until next Thursday and he posted bail in the sum of $300. He is involved in the same matter as the Colwells. Sepolpo is already under $1,500 bail in another matter.

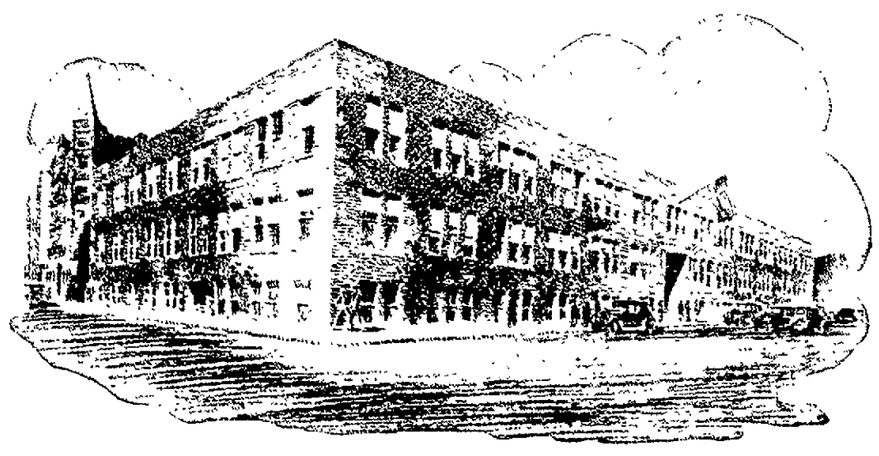
"Startling" Information

Washington, July 13 (AP)—Congressional tax investigators asked treasury officials to disclose today what Senator LaFollette (Prog., Wis.) has termed "startling" information given the Senate finance committee last year. LaFollette said the facts were more sensational than any brought out so far in the inquiry into alleged tax dodging. Members of the Senate-House committee hinted some "big names" might be involved. Treasury representatives were ready also to name departmental employes who have resigned in the last few years to take up private practice of tax cases.

Lightship Damaged.

Boston, July 13 (AP)—The lightship service reported today its Handkerchief Lightship, at the entrance to Nantucket Sound, was struck and considerably damaged yesterday by the S. S. Portmar of the Kalmar Steamship Line. One member of the lightship's crew suffered injuries. The collision, Superintendent George E. Eaton said, occurred during a heavy fog at 4 a. m. The freighter suffered no damage, he added.

Empire Printing School Quarters



Institution in Ithaca Established by State Publishers Association to Become Part of Mechanics Institute in Rochester

Rochester—Beginning with the fall term, the Empire State School of Printing will become a part of the Rochester Athenaeum and Mechanics Institute and will be known as the American Newspaper Publishers School.

This announcement was made here today by E. D. Corson, publisher of the Lockport Union Sun and Journal, and president of the New York State Publishers Association which founded the school in Ithaca in 1922.

The association has decided upon this change, Mr. Corson explained, in order to give students of printing the broader training possible in a school having the scope of Mechanics Institute.

Byron G. Culver, supervisor of the institute's evening school, has been appointed supervisor and counsellor when the Ithaca institution becomes a department of Mechanics.

J. W. Baker, present director of the Empire State School of Printing, will come to the Rochester institution as technical advisor.

Under the Ithaca program, only a one-year technical course was offered. Plans for the future include a two-year program in which the basic technical training will be supplemented by courses designed to give the student a broader liberal education.

The program for the first year, which will open on September 7, will include applied psychology, economics, appreciation of art and history of printing, English, spelling, word division and proofreading, basic design, lettering, principles of typographic design, layout, principles of advertising, ad writing, hand composition, typography, machine operation and mechanisms, care and repair of machines and equipment, press work and the like.

In the second year, additional technical training will be provided and each student's special objectives will be considered in planning his program.

Legion Meets on Friday Night to Name Officers

The annual meeting and election of officers of Kingston Post, American Legion, will be held at the Memorial Building, Friday night at 8:15 o'clock. One of the largest turnouts of members is expected to attend the meeting to vote on the slate of officers for the ensuing year.

Friday's meeting will be the last over which Commander William T. Roedell will preside. This Kingston police officer elected to head the Legion last year made one of the most impressive records as commander ever written in the annals of Kingston Post.

During the term of Commander Roedell, the membership of the local post reached a new high of 771, and Kingston stands sixth in the list of the most progressive Legions in the state. Syracuse leads with 1,730 members.

Besides the election, another order of business will be the report of the endowment fund committee, John B. Sterley, Morton Finch and C. J. Heiselman.

After the meeting there will be a social with refreshments.

Three Soviet Fliers Race Toward Goal At San Francisco

(By The Associated Press)

San Francisco, July 13—Three Soviet airmen raced southward over desolate northern Canada today on Russia's second Moscow-to-San Francisco flight.

Hurdling over a cyclone and fighting through a snowstorm, the big single-motored monoplane crossed safely over the North Pole last night, and early today flew over Great Bear lake.

A radio message at 7:21 a. m., Eastern Standard Time, breaking through static which shut out U. S. army signal corps station listening in the United States and Alaska, reported "everything OK" as the plane flew over McKenzie territory about 1,400 miles south of the Pole. The message was intercepted by the Canadian Signal Corps.

Army officers estimated the plane's speed at approximately 120 miles an hour, far above that of the preceding Russian plane which landed at Vancouver, Wash., about 700 miles short of its goal.

New Jury Ready In Scottsboro Case

Decatur, Ala., July 13 (AP)—Another jury stood ready to act in the "Scottsboro" case today while defense counsel's promise of a "major announcement" kept alive rumors that the six-year-old litigation might be near a compromise settlement.

A jury of 12 white men was chosen yesterday to try Clarence Norris, one of nine negroes accused of attacking two white women, but the group was not sworn, pending return of Chief Defense Counsel Samuel Leibowitz from a hurried trip to Birmingham.

When Leibowitz left during yesterday's court session he said he would have a "major announcement" on his return. He denied that the journey had anything to do with persistent reports that a compromise between opposing counsel would end the case.

As Norris came to trial, Thomas S. Lawson, assistant attorney general, announced he was one of two defendants found armed with knives when they were taken from Jefferson county jail at Birmingham to be brought here yesterday.

Ozie Powell, who was shot in an alleged escape attempt at the conclusion of the trial of Heywood Patterson last year, was the other negro disarmed in Birmingham, Lawson said.

Given 5-Day Sentence

In police court this morning, William J. O'Brien, of New York city, arraigned for public intoxication was given a five-days' suspended sentence by Acting City Judge Gill. O'Brien was arrested last evening at the West Shore by Patrolmen Harry Martin and James Burns. The case of Peter Schoonmaker of Kerhonkson, arrested for failing to support his family, was adjourned until next week.

Fatalities resulting from highway-railroad grade crossing accidents in the first three months this year totaled 495, an increase of 99 compared with the corresponding period last year, it is announced by the Safety Section of the Association of American railroads.

Hotter Weather Ahead For Nation

two daughters, Mrs. Mortimer Reed, of New York city, and Mrs. Kenneth Blackley, of Mt. Vernon, N. Y.

Very Heavy Losses

Wheeling, W. Va., July 13 (AP)—Farmers of two counties counted their losses in thousands of dollars today in the wake of the district's second heavy storm in three days.

Farms were washed out, rural homes flooded and rail service from Grafton to Wheeling was disrupted temporarily last night by the rain-swollen Little Grave and Big Wheeling creeks.

The creeks subsided as they raced toward the Ohio river and passed through Wheeling and Moundsville without overflowing their banks.

The storm was centered 20 miles southeast of Wheeling and spread over wide areas of Ohio and Marshall counties. Warden C. F. McClintic of the state penitentiary estimated damage to the state prison farm at $5,000. A neighboring farmer figured his losses at nearly $1,000.

Tons of young cabbages, corn and other crops were carried away by the swirling water.

SHANDAKEN

Shandaken, July 12 — Miss Katheryn Riseley, of Elizabeth, N. J., and Mrs. Margaret Resigue, of New York, are at their summer home for the season. This place used to be occupied years ago by lawyer Henry Griffeth.

The Glenbrook Hotel under the new management has been pretty well filled with guests for some time.

Mrs. John Cox, Jr., of New York city, has been vacationing with her parents during the Fourth of July holiday season. She was joined by her husband on Friday.

Mr. F. M. Cleaveland has been appointed state guide in hunting and fishing for this locality. Mr. Cleaveland is well known and he knows the spots where the speckled beauties may be caught.

Mrs. William Riseley, of Croskill, N. J., is summering at her summer home here.

Miss Ruth Richards, who owns the place known as the Yellow House in the Shandaken Country Club colony arrived at her place one day last week. Miss Richards, who has a winter home in Camden, S. C., has been visiting friends in England and has recently returned here.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Butler, of Jersey City, are visiting her daughter, Mrs. C. E. Wood, for a few days arriving on Friday. Mrs. Rose Butler, mother of C. E. Butler, who has been visiting them in Jersey City accompanied them here and was taken to her home at Rotterdam Junction on Saturday.

Mrs. V. F. Bernesser accompanied by Mrs. Ellen Guinick motored to Kingston on Friday.

Miss Elizabeth Frey motored to Woodstock on Saturday.

Traffic on Route No. 28 through this section was exceedingly heavy on Saturday and Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Wheaton, and baby, were visitors at Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Cleaveland on Sunday.

Prof. B. Blakeslee, of Arkville, visited friends in this place on Sunday.

Holding Up Bridal Party

Holding up the bridal party after the wedding is common, especially in old English villages. A flower decked rope is stretched across the street and kept there until the bridegroom pays the toll to Cupid's highwaymen. In French Savoy when a girl marries a young man from another village, her friends barricade the road until the groom "sets them up." Far from resenting this custom, the bride judges her popularity by the size of the crowd that stops her.

It might be nice, too, if capital and labor had a Jefferson Island, jointly owned and operated.

Farmers' Field Day Planned August 25

Plans have been completed and premium lists are available for the 1937 Ulster County Farmers' Field Day at Forsyth Park in Kingston on August 25. This will be a combined County Fair and Farmers' Picnic. Admission will be free to visit the extensive agricultural and homemaking exhibits.

Although this event will only be held for one day, it will take the place of the usual county fair and cash awards are being offered for a wide variety of entries. Premium lists are available at the Farm Bureau Office in Kingston.

Probably the most important portions of the Field Day will consist of exhibits and contests in which between five and six hundred Ulster county 4-H Club members will participate.

Many groups representing various organizations are cooperating to make the Field Day a success. The fact that the county fair is being combined with the Farm and Home Bureau Picnic and the 4-H Club Achievement Day should bring a large crowd to Forsyth Park on August 25. The committee-in-charge estimates that the exhibits and program will attract three or four thousand people to the park.

The committee in charge consists of Albert Kurdt, chairman; Fred DuBois, E. W. Hathaway, Harry J. Beatty, Edmund R. Bower, Frank E. Gaffney, Cyril G. Small, I. C. Barnes, A. H. Chambers, Pratt Boice, John J. Miller, Miss Everice Parsons and Harold V. Story.

Finding Wives in Spain

In Spain many a man sees his future wife first on the street. If she appears attractive, he follows her to find out where she lives, and thereafter he spends a part of every day in silent courtship beneath her balcony or before the barred windows. If her parents approve, some day he will see a little white hand pluck a blossom from the vine that climbs on the patio within and throw it to him. Then the real wooing begins. If the girl lives on the ground floor, the path of love is smooth, but the dark eyes that flash from windows higher up must mix pining in their gaze to convey the words that can not be uttered.

School Plan Has Board's Approval

them ready for architects by July 16. Then the resident architects could draw their preliminary sketches and designs and submit them at the regular meeting on July 23 for consideration. If a suitable sketch is then presented by one of the architects submitting plans, the board will then probably select its architect.

This plan for a general invitation for all architects of the city to submit plans was approved by the board.

The meeting Monday evening was an adjourned meeting from July 2, called to take action on the report of the building committee which had recommended that Proposition No. 1, be adopted. All trustees were present.

President Schmid stated the purpose of the meeting.

A communication was then read from Albert E. Milliken, architect, stating that he lived on the Hurley road near Kingston and owned property in the city. He asked that in future work the board give him an opportunity to compete with other architects. He said he contemplated erecting an office on Hurley avenue in Kingston in the near future. The communication was received and filed and Superintendent Van Ingen directed to acknowledge the letter.

Trustee Feeney reported for the Building Committee on the outcome of a visit which had been made to the State Education Department at Albany and said that Dr. Wilson had told the delegation, including Trustees Feeney, Cragin, Katz, Hutton and Superintendent Van Ingen, that no major additions would be permitted at Schools No. 7 or 6 on the present sites. The committee reported that the state department would not permit the reconstruction of either 7 or 8 on the present site should the buildings be destroyed by fire. The department would demand that sites of at least four acres be acquired.

Mr. Feeney said that the State Department approved the proposed eighth grade school and vocational arts school. So long as the local board had entered upon a long range program of improvements, he said, the state department had expressed a desire to go along with the board. Trustee Hutton said that it had been clearly understood that major additions to grade schools would not be permitted on the present small plots of ground.

"We talked of additions to Nos. 7 and 6 but we could not get to first base on that", said Trustee Feeney.

State To Go Along.

Trustee Katz said that Dr. Wilson of the state department had told the committee that so long as the board was going along in the right direction in the matter of school improvements here the state department would go along and do anything possible to assist and to approve temporary housing of students pending completion of the proposed eighth grade school.

Before a vote was taken on the adoption of the report of the Building Committee, Trustee Feeney was called upon to again review the proposals. He explained that the plan approved and recommended by the committee was Proposition No. 1, the erection of the eighth grade school at the rear of the present high school, a building with a capacity of about 800 which could take the 400 grade students from the city's eighth grades and also accommodate about 400 entering students from the high school; the erection of a vocational training school adjacent to the present arts building at the high school and the purchase of the Fair Grounds for the erection of an athletic stadium. The stadium he said was to be submitted as a WPA project and it was understood that some $25,000 would be spent in erection of a stadium. The prosposed plan calls for a gym in the new eighth grade school which later can be converted into an auditorium.

Following discussion Trustee Remmert's motion to approve the recommendations of the committee was unanimously adopted.

There was some discussion as to the advisability of buying the Fair Grounds off Washington avenue. Trustee Hutton at one time moved to amend the Remmert resolution and eliminate the stadium expenditure. He said he thought there was time enough to consider this and he believed other sites might be considered. He spoke of present owned city parks as possible sites.

Discuss Fair Grounds.

Several members expressed the belief that at $10,000 the Fair Grounds was a good buy and a very desirable site. Not only could a stadium be built there but in years to come the site could also be used for a school if demand required a larger school in that section of the city. There are 12½ acres in the plot which adjoins Forsyth Park and has numerous exits available for clearing traffic after games and contests.

Hasbrouck Park was considered too small for a stadium and there was a traffic and drainage problem to solve too. It was mentioned the several railroad crossings in the vicinity.

Mr. Remmert accepted the Hutton amendment to exclude the stadium from the proposal but later after it had been explained that WPA had turned down the plan for a stadium at other parks because of lack of space and other undesirable conditions, Mr. Hutton said that if he were the only one who wanted a delay to examine other sites that he would withdraw his amendment and the matter might just as well be disposed of.

His amendment withdrawn, the Remmert resolution was put to a vote and unanimously adopted. The resolution included the central trade school, vocational school and purchase of the Fair Grounds at the cost not to exceed $375,000 for the entire program.

The matter of an architect to supply plans and specifications for the proposed work was then brought up. Several members felt more than one architect should be given an opportunity to submit plans and it was finally decided that the matter should be advertised in the papers and all architects who are residents of the city should be given an equal opportunity to submit sketches. This was approved by the board.

Trustee Hasbrouck suggested that one architect might be given the commission to draw the plans and a second architect might be also employed to check and act in an advisory capacity during construction.

The thought of several of the members of the board was that the expenditure of public funds should be divided among various men. Some of the architects it was stated had already had considerable work and it was suggested that the work be rotated among the several equally competent local architects. Because the board gave one job to one architect and the next job to another man was not done because of any feeling of lack of competency but because the board felt the rotation of work was proper so that all of the local architects eventually received a portion of the work.

After adopting the proposition to call for other plans to be ready by July 23, the board adjourned. Specifications will be drawn up and available to architects who desire to submit sketches by July 16.

ONE "BOSSY" TO ANOTHER

Mayor Andrew J. "Bossy" Gillis of Newburyport, Mass., was indignant when the school board bought a power lawn mower. "Bossy" retaliated by buying four cows to pasture on the high school lawn. Here he is advising privately with one of his new cows.

TORRENTIAL RAIN MONDAY TIED UP NEW YORK TRAFFIC

New York, July 13 (AP)—Choked by a torrential rain, city sewers backed up into the New York Central's tunnels under Park avenue late yesterday afternoon and paralyzed traffic for one hour and 25 minutes.

Service was resumed at 3:55 p. m., E. S. T. One outward bound train, a Peekskill local, was marooned at about 65th street for the duration of the tie-up, the dispatcher's office said.

The water, rising to a height of two to four inches above the third rails, held 27 westbound locals and expresses at Grand Central and 10 inbound trains that were stopped at the 125th street and 138th street stations.

Service on the New York Central and the New York, New Haven and Hartford was affected.
